

NETHER WALLOP PARISH COUNCIL

The Parish Pump Email system.

To note:

The voluntary service of running the community email information distribution service, known as the "Parish Pump", was historically run by a councillor and had recently been taken over by the current Chairman of the Parish Council when the previous councillor resigned.

There has been some confusion with residents thinking the emails sent via the pump were either from, or endorsed by, the Parish Council, which is not, and never has been the case.

To clarify the position and to further distance the pump email from the council, the Chairman is no longer responsible for sending the emails, which will again be handled by a member of the public on a new email address: wallop.pump@gmail.com
