

Freedom of Information Act 2000

The Freedom of Information Act deals with access to official information. The Act provides individuals or organisations with the right to request information held by a public authority. Information can be requested by letter or email. The Act is fully retrospective and applies to all information, not just information filed since the Act came into force.