COLLINGHAM BUSINESS CLUB UPDATE

The June Business Club meeting took place on Wednesday, 9th at its usual Collingham Football Club venue; many thanks to the Club Committee for making these excellent facilities available.

The meeting started by noting that a new licensee, Sean Baskerville, had now taken over at the Grey Horse pub; those present welcomed him to the village, and wished him a successful tenure. Whilst on the subject of refreshing amber fluids, it is rumoured that this year's Open Gardens event, taking place on 1st July, will include an opportunity to visit a Collingham micro-brewery.

A running theme throughout 2018 is the wide array of events being organised to commemorate and celebrate the armistice that brought about the end of World War 1; a comprehensive list of what is underway can be found on the internet at <https://goo.gl/41dE6Y>. Meanwhile, the main Business Club contribution to the events is being led by a Jerome Wright initiative to commemorate Collingham's fallen at their battlefield graveyards. Attempts to arrange a WW1 re-enactment to coincide with the Collingham Show have so far been less successful.

Other matters currently on the Business Club "agenda", include support for the brilliant Action Group campaigning against the development of an animal processing plant at nearby Norton Disney. Their latest campaigning video can be seen at <https://goo.gl/cUgTx7> but, be warned, this contains some scenes not suitable for children or the faint-hearted.

Collingham Business Club meetings are free to attend, and take place between 6:00pm and 7:00pm on the second Wednesday of every month (excluding August & December). So the last meeting of the summer season takes place on Wednesday, 11th July 2018 at the usual Collingham Football Club venue. Anyone interested in business matters in the Collingham area, and their guests, are always welcome.
