Thanks so much Martin for getting back to us.

It appears the T-junction at the top of the high street (<https://w3w.co/duck.spoke.than>) has been repainted a few weeks ago, which is great news – but I'm not sure the road has actually been resurfaced. Maybe its an interim measure until the resurfacing works can take place?

Fingers crossed the other works will happen soon.

Thanks again

Hello again.

I am trying my best to get the area of the high St. resurfaced.

It has taken ages to get the appropriate resource together across the county. when they resurface, re-white lining of the junction will follow.

There is an instruction in the system for white lining the rest of the village but with one gang covering the whole of Wiltshire ! hopefully they will be back in the north.

With regard to the school signs, again there is an instruction in the system. The contractor is working his way through the list of work he has.

I'm sorry this doesn't sound very positive but we have to be realistic about the amount of work the resources available to us can complete.

Regards.

Dear Martin

Just another one from me – I wondered where we are with all of this and how far down the list Ogbourne St George is?!

We are a keen on an update on when things might be looked at – such as the refreshment of the white lines at t-junctions, the new school signs etc etc.

Thanks

Rachel
