

Parish Council Report

Autumn is definitely here although it was nice to have one last treat of summer sunshine which we hope you all managed to enjoy. Each late autumn SODC provide a deep cleanse service to parishes whereby contractors undertake path clearing to ensure safety as winter approaches. The Parish Council conducted a walk around the village to highlight focus areas for the clean up which have been passed to SODC ahead of the visit.

During the walkaround several other concerns were found such as broken surfaces, overhanging trees and uncut verges. Everything found has been reported to the relevant authority for remedial action. We would like to remind residents that trees/hedges etc that encroach the public highway are the responsibility of the land owners to keep cut back. Any instances of encroachment that pose a safety risk to pavement or road users may receive contact from Oxfordshire County Council directly.

We would like to welcome Ben Smith and his team at the newly opened Beetle and Wedge and we hope many of you have had chance to pay them a visit and enjoy the new look at our beautiful river setting. We have received enquiries about river access at the end of Ferry Lane. We can confirm that existing river access and public parking remains unchanged. The parking spaces adjacent to Beetle and Wedge House are for public use due to being on the public highway. River access and public mooring is found to the left of the outside seating area.

Sadly Covid-19 is rearing its ugly head again and it seems likely we may find ourselves in a further lockdown situation in the coming weeks or months. We would like to assure residents that should that be the case the volunteer support network is ready and waiting to spring back into action when required to support those who need it.

You will see still the advert for a new editor for this newsletter. Sadly there has not been any response from the last newsletter and the need for someone to come forward is urgent to ensure this important communication method can continue. Please do contact Bernadette Sachse via moulsfordnews@moulsford-pc.org.uk. She will be happy to answer any questions you may have if it is something you are thinking about but not sure.

Please remember you can contact any one of your councillors (contact details on the back page) should you have any queries or concerns.

Wishing you all safe and well.

URGENT - EDITOR REQUIRED

Do you have a few hours available for 10 months of the year to take over the important task of editing this newsletter?

Due to personal circumstances I need to step down from the role that I have thoroughly enjoyed for the last six years.

Being editor of the newsletter requires basic knowledge of Microsoft Publisher and a keen eye for detail. If this sounds like you please get in touch.

A full handover and training will be given and future support will be available.

Please contact Bernadette on moulsfordnews@moulsford-pc.org.uk for more information or to arrange a phone call to discuss.

My dear friends,

I am writing this the day after Boris Johnson has announced more stringent lockdown measures, stating that they are likely to last another six months. I am sure that most of you, like me, never imagined when lockdown started that it would still be going on now - let alone for a whole year. It is very easy in such circumstances to feel discouraged and dismayed. It is no surprise that various surveys have revealed an increase in anxiety and mental illness and a decrease in motivation.

So it is important to ask how we can cultivate resilience at this time.

First, I believe we need to remind ourselves of reasons for hope. Our nation has come through even worse times, most notably in recent history through the 2nd World War, and we can be sure that "this too will pass". A vaccine will be developed, 'test and trace' will eventually get sorted out and this epidemic like all other epidemics will eventually run its course. For those of us who believe, we have a deeper foundation for hope in a loving God who cares for us and who overcomes even the worst of suffering through the power of the resurrection.

Secondly, continue to remind yourself of all the reasons to be grateful. These might include the beauty of creation around us, a warm and comfortable home, family and friends, or the NHS - and if we look hard enough, many little blessings each day that we can often take for granted.

Thirdly, be honest about how you really feel and look after yourself accordingly. There is nothing more exhausting, or ultimately more dispiriting, than pretending you are absolutely fine when you are not! Make sure that you have a trusted group - friends, family, or a support group - where you can share what you are really feeling honestly. Our church has a number of "home groups" that have continued to meet weekly during lockdown – mainly by Zoom, which have been invaluable.

Finally, be positive and focus on what you can do and not on what you can't. Not being able to do certain things, can mean we have time and energy for something new. Many have already discovered new interests, hobbies and new skills. Being positive also means that whilst we may need to know the news, we don't need to spend the whole time dwelling on endless negative news reports, but we also look out for good news and whatever provides encouragement. As the Good Book says: "whatever is true, whatever is noble, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is admirable – if anything is excellent or praiseworthy – think about such things."

With warmest regards, from your vicar,
