

The logo for 'Which?' is a red square with the word 'Which?' in white, bold, sans-serif font.

WHO'S REALLY CALLING YOU ?

You receive a phone call from your bank, but how can you be sure it's them on the line?

It might look like the phone number on your bank statement – or even the one on the back of your debit card – but that doesn't guarantee it's your bank calling. Instead, you could be talking to a fraudster. It's a malicious trick known as 'number spoofing'.

The regulator Ofcom doesn't know how big a threat this is in the UK but there's been a worrying increase in reports of this type of scam.

Don't get caught out by number spoofing. We have the facts and advice on what you can do to keep you and your family safe.

To read the full report go to: <http://bit.ly/2N84uV1>