23.24.48.00 NATIONAL TRUST REPORT

There was no representative of the Trust available to attend the meeting but the following written report was provided:

" Mose Farm, Dudmaston:

We have been working with Martyn Bebb to bring in material from sites across the county to create heathland habitats within his agreement area. This has mostly been seed from traditional hay meadows and specialist acid grassland sites. These species will form the foundation for the heathland with the early stages of heather and bilberry establishment that is to follow later in October.

We're arranging to cut tones (in excess of 50T) of heather brash from the Long Mynd as part of their fire management and bring that to Mose to help establish a seed bank of heather plants alongside brush harvested heather seed and 8,000 (Calluna vulgaris) heather plugs which will be hand planted across the area.

We have identified three historic ponds across the area which are going to be restored this autumn in partnership with Shropshire Wildlife Trust, they are either 'ghost ponds' – so lost/ filled in entirely or are on the verge of being lost and hold little water when compared to their former glory. These should provide fantastic habitats for a variety of species and complement the habitat creation at Mose, putting back a little bit of our lost historic landscape and is something we hope to continue over the coming years with other tenants across the estate.

This activity will be followed by broadleaf tree planting during the winter months in two areas of wood pasture creation and a further 5,000 heather and bilberry plugs which are due to be planted toward the end of March 25.

Sandscapes:

The overarching project which looks to achieve habitat connectivity for heath/ acid grassland and wood pasture across the region is in its early stages, but we have held several meetings with public sector and private individuals who are interested in collaborating and we will look to firm up those discussions over the autumn and winter months.

Dudmaston Hall Update

The Hall has enjoyed a busy summer season despite the poorer weather. The new children's playground has proved very popular as has our exhibition of fans collected by Lady Labouchere. Comer Woods continues to grow in appeal and enjoyed a very successful summer of play for families.

Over the summer an archaeological survey has been undertaken on the historic garden feature known as the Ladies Bath which has revealed much more about its history and development which will inform its future management. As part of this project which has been funded by supporter contributions, we are undertaking a significant replanting which will not only enhance that area but also adapt our planting to respond to the change in climate.

Although the Hall is now closed for the season the Galleries will remain open until the end of November and we will be hosting the final Made In Shropshire fair for the year on this Sunday. We are also planning further improvements in Comer Woods to improve accessibility and enhance the experience for visitors.

We will once again be working with the local community and schools to sustainably decorate trees in Comer Woods for Christmas. There will also be special days with choirs and stories around the fire."

23.24.49.00 MEMORIAL GARDEN TO QUEEN ELIZABETH 2ND

Following a site visit with the National Trust, members of the Council discussed the possibility of creating a memorial garden to the late Queen and/or a community orchard on the old allotments site adjoining the Church.

It was noted that the Trust had also had discussions with other parties in the Community about the future of the land now that the allotments had been vacated.

Resolved that before proceeding any further, the Council seek further information from the National Trust about the proposals being discussed with certain residents in the village and councillors visit other community orchards in the area.
