.....FROM the RECTORY

Dear Friends

I heard very recently about the London Internet Church, so looked it up on google to see what it is (and you can also ). It is not quite what I expected it to be, because it is based in a solid physical church building, St Stephen's Wallbank London EC4 which is a classical Wren designed church. It started in 2007 as part of the Diocese of London, but rather than being another physical church, it aims at being a gathered global community that meets online to worship, enquire, encourage and pray.

The Bishop of London and his team want to build the Church, both virtually on line, and in the real physical world. They believe that an Internet presence as a church cannot replace the reality of personal interaction, so they still encourage 'members' to come together physically not just 'virtually'.

Oxford Diocese also has an i-church which "aims to enable people who want to know more about Christianity to find out more, and to support people in their journeys of faith".

I have said jokingly for some years that with our declining numbers at our local churches there must be some way of having a church service in your own home via the internet; indeed that you could choose from a menu your preferred hymns, choir, service and preacher. Such a 'church' would save the costs of building repairs, maintenance and insurance, as well as not requiring a paid vicar or minister (which I wrote about last month).

Some of you may be wondering how you might receive communion. Sadly this is not yet an option in the Internet Church. Really you just watch a streamed or recorded service and in their words " viewers can join worshippers to experience the Anglican Eucharist filmed live from the internet church home. A traditional Eucharist set at a modern altar in a Wren church; pray with the congregation, use the film for teaching, enjoy the experience "

So it is like watching any video or streamed event on your screen at home, in that rather artificial style of "experience". Hence the leaders' encouragement for viewers to come together physically. The difficulty with that notion is the travelling from their "gathered global community".

At least the Church is awake to the possibilities of the internet virtual world and trying to make contact with people in our individualistic computer age, even though there are limitations.

With best wishes

Keith Hodson

PRAYER OF THE MONTH

Creator God you made us in your image may we discern you in all that we see and serve you in all that we do through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

SIX PARISHES FRIENDSHIP CLUB

For our meeting in June John Whitham organised a quiz, including a page of well-known celebrities, although some of us struggled hard to recognize some of them. It turned out to be great fun, with some of our tables of four sometimes forgetting to keep our voices down when we thought we had a right answer. The eventual winners were Vera Malkin, Sid Speke, and Phyllis and Roger Wilson.

On WEDNESDAY 13TH JULY we are once again visiting Llangollen, but this time to include a 2 hour motorised cruise on the Llangollen Canal, crossing en-route the famous 126ft high aqueduct built by Thomas Telford in 1805. Our itinerary for the day will start from Beckbury at 9am and arriving at Llangollen at about 10.30am. We then spend some time sight-seeing including lunch. We board the coach again at 1.30pm for a ride to our barge trip starting at Froncysyllte, and after a 2 hour boat ride we again meet our coach for the trip home, arriving in Beckbury at about 5.30pm.

Quite a busy and very full day for everyone, but should be very enjoyable.

The cost for the day, including the boat trip, is £15.00 for members and £18.00 for non-members. A £10 deposit is required at the time of booking.

Our August Meeting on Tuesday 9th August will be in the garden at Havenside, weather permitting, starting at 12noon (bring and share lunch). This will also include a summer bring and buy to raise money for our club funds.
