

Accessibility Statement

Here at www.crakehall.org.uk we are committed to providing a website that is accessible to the widest possible audience, regardless of circumstance and ability.

As we further develop this site we will try to adhere as closely as possible to the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG 2.0, Level AA), published by the World Wide Web Consortium (W3C). These guidelines explain how to make Web content more accessible for people with disabilities. Conformance with these guidelines will help make the web more user friendly to everyone. Whilst we will strive to adhere to the guidelines and standards for accessibility, we anticipate that it may not always be possible to do so in all areas of the website. However, we will continually seek out solutions that will bring as many areas of the site as possible up to the same level of overall web accessibility.

If you come across any particular issues that cause you difficulty in accessing any part of this website please let us know and we will do our very best to find solutions for both the immediate and longer terms.
