PARISH COUNCIL

Chair's Update:

We were very sorry to hear that Bill Gosney passed away in December. As many of you will know Bill was a great contributor to our village in lots of ways over many years. Perhaps his most well-known gift to us was the way he created what is now known as the Jubilee Wood at the bottom of North Street. Then known as the Old Sewage Field, Bill planted trees, cut paths, built hides and put in a couple of seats. When the Water Board decided not to renew their lease, the parish council contacted the Duchy and it was agreed to mark the Queen's Jubilee by making this area of land into a Jubilee Wood for all the community. A formal ceremony was held, and at the centre of the wood Bill planted an Oak sapling, given by the Duchy, that came from the park at Windsor Castle. Bill continued to look after this land, spending hours down there, and it became a lovely quiet place for residents to walk and enjoy nature. Recently the Duchy have kindly replanted more trees, and Bill's legacy continues to live on. He will be much missed.

Still on the topic of trees, you may have seen some tree work being carried out in the Memorial Hall Grounds. Although the land belongs to the Hall Trustees, the parish council has for many years as a goodwill gesture taken over responsibility for the grass cutting and trees on behalf of the village. Last year a survey was carried out which revealed that some of the trees were either diseased, overcrowded or needed significant pruning, and the District Council's planning permission was granted to implement the recommendations. This work is now being carried out, with some new trees being planted.
