16 hardy walkers battled, wind, rain, mist and mud to walk over Abbotsbury Hill. Of course there was mud, Oh yes, mud. Coffee break was at the Grey Mare and her Colts, which was very short as the cold wind did blow. A walkers' split took place on the descent with some choosing to walk along the road. We were all reunited in the village. The Brewers Arms welcomed us with warmth, drink and good food to revive us all.
